

380R God of All Ages, Known of Old

1. God of the a - ges, known of old; You of our
 2. The tu - mult and the shout - ing dies; The cap - tains 3. Far called, the na - vies melt a way, on dune and
 4. If, drunk with sight of power, we loose wild tongues that
 5. Un - think - ing hearts that put their trust in blink - ing far - flung bat - tle line, be - neath whose aw - ful hand we hold and news crews de - part: Still stands an an - cient sa - cri - fice, head - land sinks the fire: Lo, all the pomp of yes - ter - day have not you in awe, such boast - ings as the pride - ful use, screen and ir - on shard, all val - iant dust that builds on dust, do - mi - nion o'er palm and pine: God of our fath - ers, a hum - ble and a con - trite heart. God of our moth - ers, is one with Ni - ne - veh and Tyre! Judge of the na - tions, or ones who have ig - nored your law: O God of hosts, be and guard - ing, calls not you to guard, for fran - tic boast and be here yet, lest we for - get, lest we for - get!

 be here yet, lest we for - get, lest we for - get!
 spare us yet, lest we for - get, lest we for - get!
 with us yet, lest we for - get, lest we for - get!
 fool - ish word: Have mer - cy on all peo - ple, God!

Words: Rudyard Kipling (1897), rev. REH (2006)

Music: FOKINGHAM (8.8.8.8.8.), Supplement to the New Version (1708)