

7R Praise Be to God, the Almighty

Joachim Neander, 1680; trans. Catherine Winkworth, 1858;
rev. REH, 2006

LOBE DEN HERREN
14.14.4.7.8
from Stralsund Gesangbuch, 1665

1. Praise be to God, the Al - migh - ty, who rules o'er cre - a - -
 2. Praise be to God, who o'er all things is won - drous - ly reign - -
 3. Praise be to God, who has fear - less - ly, joy - ful - ly, made - -
 4. Praise be to God, who does pros - per your work and de - fend - -
 5. Praise be to God, who, when tem - pests their war - fare are wag - -
 6. Praise be to God, O join all in sin - cere de - di - ca - - tion! O my soul praise the One who is our health and sal - ing, Who, as on eag - le's wings, is us so gent - ly sus - you; Health has vouch - safed and, when heed - less - ly fall - ing, has you; Sure - ly such good - ness and mer - cy here dai - ly at - ing, Who, when the el - e - ments mad - ly a - round you are - tion; All that has life and breath, come now in deep con - tem - va - - tion! Join the great throng, wake harp and tain - - ing! Have you not seen all that is stayed - - you. What need or grief ev - er has tend - - you. Pon - der a - new what the Al - rag - - ing, Bids them to cease, turns then their pla - - tion! Let the A - men sound from all psal - ter and song; Sound forth in glad a - dor - a - - tion.

 need - ed has been Set by a gra - cious or - dain - - ing? failed of re - lief? Wings of true mer - cy have shade - - you.
 migh - ty can do, Who with great love does be - friend - - you. fu - ry to peace, Whirl - winds and wa - ters as - suag - - ing peo - ple a - gain, Gather - ed in true a - dor - a - - tion.