

7R Praise be to God, the Almighty

1=125

1. Praise be to God, the Al - migh - ty, who rules o'er cre - a -
 2. Praise be to God, who o'er all things is won - drous - ly reign -
 3. Praise be to God, who has fear - less - ly, joy - ful - ly, made
 4. Praise be to God, who does pros - per your work and de - fend
 5. Praise be to God, who, when tem - pests their war - fare are wag -
 6. Praise be to God, O join all in faith - ful de - di - ca -

- tion! O my soul praise the Life who is our health and sal -
 - ing, who, as on eag - le's wings, is us so gent - ly sus - you, Health has vouch - safed and, when heed - less - ly fall - ing, has you, Sure - ly such good - ness and mer - cy here dai - ly at -
 - ing, who, when the el - e - ments mad - ly a - round you are
 - tion; all that has life and breath, come now in deep con - tem -

- va - tion! Join the great throng, wake harp and
 - tain - ing! Have you not seen that all is stayed you. What need or grief ev - er has
 - tend you. Pon - der a - new what the Al - rag - ing, bids them to cease, turns then their
 - pla - tion! Let the A - men sound from all psal - ter and song, Sound forth in glad a - dor - a - tion.

 need - ed has been set by God's gra - cious or - dain - ing?
 failed of re - lief? Wings of true mer - cy have shade you.
 - migh - ty can do, who with great love does be - friend you.
 fu - ry to peace, whirl - winds and wa - ters as - suag - ing.
 peo - ple a - gain, gather - ed in true a - dor - a - tion.

Words: Joachim Neander (1680); trans. C. Winkworth (1858), rev. REH (2006)
 Music: LOBE DEN HERREN (14.14.4.7.8.), Stralsund Gesangbuch (1665)

